Some Reminders

Before you submit...

- ✓ Check all references one by one. Each in-text citation must align with a corresponding reference in the reference list.
- ✓ Cite references that you've actually read. Do not cite a reference that was just cited by somebody else.
- ✓ All references must be recent (within the past 10 years), except when the reference is a seminal piece of work.
- ✓ All references in the reference list must be cited in the text.
- ✓ The reference list should be alphabetically ordered.

What if I have a reference (for example, a newspaper) or a special case (for example, an author with 2 publications in the same year) that is not covered in these guidelines?

You may search more information in the Internet. For example, search: APA style newspaper. This should lead you to reputable sites that can provide guidelines. Note that it is not possible to put all rules in a few pages, so it is important that you also learn to search information in the Internet when needed.
